WELCOME to the second edition of Simon Says, the Abram Simon Elementary School literary magazine, written and edited by the students of Simon Elementary. Simon Says is published through a collaborative effort between the school and the D.C. Creative Writing Workshop, an independent non-profit working to create a literary renaissance in Southeast Washington. In September 2004, after four years of providing award-winning programming at Charles Hart Middle School, the D.C. Creative Writing Workshop expanded to offer similar programs to students at Simon and at nearby Ballou High School. This year, fifth graders at Simon have devoted themselves to learning the joy of self expression and the power of the written word. Simon Says is the result of nearly a year of workshops with professional writers, giving our young writers the opportunity to exercise their creative energies, speak their minds, and be heard by an audience throughout the city.

We have many friends who have helped to make Simon Says possible, and we would like to express our gratitude to them. Our sincerest thanks go out to the Herb Block Foundation, Morris and Gwendolyn Cafritz Foundation, Children's Fund of Metropolitan Washington, Commonweal Foundation, Community Foundation of the National Capital Region, Fannie Mae Foundation, John Edward Fowler Foundation, Philip Graham Fund, Harman Family Foundation, Hitachi Foundation, International Monetary Fund, Junior League of Washington, Moran Family Fund, Meyer Foundation, Rotary Club of Washington, Wachovia Foundation, Wendling Foundation, Weissberg Foundation, the World Bank, an anonymous donor, the friends and family of Anna Su, Michael Joy and TSCJoy/Monterey, LLC, Sarah Booth and Bloomberg L.P., Wells Fargo Home Mortgage, Karibu Books, GO! Creative, the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum, the Arena Stage, the Shakespeare Theatre, McGuire Associates, Joyce Page and Ms. Printing, Tollefson & Gustini Investment Management, our friends at Popeye's on Malcolm X Avenue, Ms. Shin's 6th grade class at Bush Hill Elementary School, Gregory Auger, George and Lenore Cohen, Fritz Edler, Tom and Carolyn Grey, Mark Hollinger and Kathy McNeil Hollinger, Frances Horn, Betsy Karel, Gay and Charlie Lord, Paul Mandelbaum, Judene Slaughter, Raina Rose Tagle, friends of the late Meyer Saul Taubman, Juanita Wade, Vera M. White, and Martin Youmans.

Special thanks for the hard work and dedication of the D.C. Creative Writing Workshop Board of Directors: Dr. Susan Gerson, Sandra Hardman, Bernie Horn, Kathleen Huston, Michael Joy, Joan Kennan, Bill Newlin, Nancy Schwalb, Kirsten Tollefson, and Jamila Wade.

We would also like to thank the principal, Dr. Adelaide Flamer, and fifth grade teachers Ms. Jenna Mullen, Mr. Michael Smith, and Ms. Sheba Tartt-Walker, who are our partners in this endeavor.

My Name

My name is midnight, because I hang in the shadows.
Yesterday my name was laughter, and I was a clown.
Tomorrow my name will be silence, because I will not make a sound.
My friends call me phantom—they think I'm a ghost.
My parents call me nightmare when I get on their nerves.
But my real name is magic, and I have a thousand emotions.

Jay Jordan

Into the New Year

Spinning the new year:
skipping the world, dancing for all the boys and girls, skating the ice,
starving the night,
sliding the moon,
bouncing at noon,
popping the popcorn,
dragging the horn,
smiling my smile, winning everything!

Tiptoeing through the house, racing a mouse,
stomping my floor,
flying through the door, slithering under it all,
falling the fall, struggling the most,
burning the toast,
gliding the glide, fighting for my pride!

If

If I were a color, I would be the pink of a flower.
If I were a sound, I would be the sound of a cat purring in its good-night sleep.
If I were a season, I would be winter, so the children could play in the snow.
If I were a shape, I would be the square shape of building blocks.
If I were a holiday, I would be Christmas, and get presents all day.
If I were a verb, I would be singing, and everyone would hear my voice.
If I were a bug, I would be a ladybug, so I could soar, and if I were an adult, I would do anything I want to.

Danielle Thomas

My Vision

On a hill of gold, my eyes began to get drowsy
The shadow rose while I fell asleep
My soul had to be calm
I saw bronze melt
All of those memories
My friends betray me now I have emeralds and rubies
My vision is gone
It's crumbling
My fortune, I thought it was everlasting but it was unbelievable I cried, I heard my heartbeat
I couldn't believe it was poison

Devon Hudson

If I Were...

If I were a color, I would be blue, like the ocean.

If I were a sound, I would be a lion's growl.

If I were a season, I would be summer, when kids get out of school.

If I were a shape, I would be a pointed sword.

If I were a holiday, I would be Christmas and spend time with my family.

If I were a verb, I would be running really fast.

If I could be anything,
I would be invincible, and live forever.

Cameron Hilliard

Ashley Boston

Flying into a New Year

I'm flying into a new year;

I go with the wind and the birds.

I finally see the new year—

It's smiling right at me.

I can't wait to see all the changes, but I am going to stay the same.

Maria Watkins

The Prisoners

I hear an echo while my heart skips a beat.
You may listen to the dawn people weeping, while you're walking down the disguised hallway.
You may hear drowning voices in a room so lonely and filled with darkness.
But when they get out,
God will shine down on them.

Desja Gant

No Time for Tomorrow

No time for tomorrow,
'cause I'm feeling a little sorrow;
My head is hurting, my fruit is stolen, and my cat is playing volleyball.
My laughter is unseen, a stranger stole my mirror, and it rained on my glory.
My shining star has darkened, my heart is being plunged, and my afternoon happiness is forgotten.
That's why I have no time for tomorrow.

Rickia Wrice

Magic

I rise at the moment of glistening rain.
I see a misty fog surrounding me.
I see an illusion of sunlight rising.
I see the earth surrounding me, sending me a message, telling me I'm going very smoothly.

I hear the glistening rain howling.
I hear the misty fog all alone.
I hear the illusion of traveling in heavenly silence.

I feel unspoken solitude, fluttering in the silver mirror.
I feel an illusion of splashing wonder, of magic.

Maria Watkins

The Pretty Flowers

Flowers are full of wonder.
They light up like magic,
are pretty like blossoms.
and they sing me to sleep when I hear their voices.
They glisten like glory, shine like a shining star, fill me with laughter.
They are precious, like a golden stone.

Danielle Williams

Cameron Hilliard

My life as a child

My life as a child
is on a hill of gold.
My mom is rich and my dad is rich, like in rap songs.
My life as a child
is when I am asleep:
my soul is still lit like a candle.

Javian Bryant

Cities

My life as a child is hard as a betrayal.
All winter we'll wander in a red wagon that is flames.
Black against the fog and snow and shadow on a hill of gold, shining on a palace, I am a temporary citizen that lives on dawn.
I am angry now.
You ate cotton candy.
This is what cities are like in the afternoon.

Derreon Jones

Anything

If I were a color, I'd be pink like a pig.
If I were a sound, I'd be music on the radio.
If I were a season, I'd be winter because I can play in the snow.
If I were a shape, I'd be a heart necklace.
If I were a verb, I would be running so I can beat anyone in a race.
If I could be anything at all, I would be myself.

Desja Gant

Shadows

The room full of shadows is asleep
You don't want to awake it or your heart will beat The everlasting shadow sings forever
You would think that the room is very clever The shadows' pictures hurt me so It goes down deep in me, really low
The ocean wouldn't even wash the pain away
It stays with me like a sudden memory

Rickia Wrice

Life

My life as a child is about emeralds.
My life as a child is about rubies.
My life as a child is about being a king and living in a palace of games.
My life as a child is about unbelievable miracles happening.
My life as a child is about everlasting strength and forgiveness.
My life as a child is about staying out in the moonlight, playing all night.

Cameron Hilliard

ShawnTay Kent

Boring

My life as a child is dull and gruesome
My life as a child
is revolting and horrible
My life as a child
is miserable and boring
My life as a child
is negative, never positive My life as a child is over Goodbye

Shatonia Hardy

Life as a child

My life as a child is like being in a palace with glittering walls of diamonds.
My life as a child is like rubies staring into my eyes.
It makes me forget forever.
My life as a child is like an ocean filled with cotton.
Someplace rattling cans are calling me.
My bones are shaking.
My life as a child is a nightmare because my brother and my sister are like Hurricane Katrina ruining my land.
Somewhere there has to be light, or somewhere there is moonlight.
I wake up
It was just a dream
That's my life as a child.

Briana Lockett

Let it Burn

My life as a child is flames.
My heart always bursts into flames.
My softness is too soft.
My heartbeat goes baa-boom, baa-boom.
It's like people poison me to feel bad.
It's like a hurricane: everything is flying and tossing together.

Soul music is what keeps me holding on.
I wonder if it will ever change.
My life is like a sad song playing over and over again.
I need an inspiration to help me.

I am beautiful as a rose, but the dark shadow keeps coming to keep me blue.
I've cried trying to get over it.
My life is wild.
My eyes redden up when I fear I'm about to fall.
My life is unbelievable,
But I've got to let it burn.

Charnice Dunham

Derreon Jones

Summer

I always like summer best because I can go to the pool and free myself I can eat a sweet watermelon
I can swim in the ocean I can be noisy all I want I can laugh with my friends and be wild playing outside I can imagine that I sparkle in the stars and I am sunlight shining in the summer clouds I like summer best

Memories

In the bright branches of the willow tree
I can see the clouds making memories of me When my eyes closed, I fell right to sleep And when I woke up, I saw a baby in the street
I thought I saw a charm from a distance away
But it was just a little rose waiting for me
In the bright branches of the willow tree
I see a cloud making memories of me.

Danielle Thomas

Walk Forever

Black against the fog and snow everlasting darkness there nowhere to go Somewhere in the distance it must be sunshine My mind is crumbling away no one to talk to, just silence Something follows me in the shadows
I have no memory of my friends or family All of my inspiration and hope of getting out is gone Trying to stay calm is like taking poison

Shawntay Kent

My Life Is Crumbling

My life is like a jet flying overhead My life is like cotton, because the good softness heals the pain When my bones crack they fly away like a gust of wind When my eyes go to pain
I forget my visions My life is wild, like a roaring jungle with a staircase of nothingness.

Armani McKinzie

Ashley Boston, Dantelle Thomas

I Am Angry Now!

I am angry now
as my bones are thrown in the flame.
You think you know how hard it is to be the oldest.
If you have siblings, you're in a world of trouble.
You know, when you are always blamed for something your siblings did and when you tell the things they did, no one believes you.
Say if you go to the pool and your sister does not know how to swim and you forget.
They try to follow us and jump in the pool and they walk and drop and their eyes turn red.
When we get home, they say they are hungry and they make Oodles of Noodles and burn themselves.
You are really angry now, and wild you tell them to go to sleep and when they get older they have memories
I am angry now, and I will always be.

Jacqueline Crawford

Four Cornered Room

In my four cornered room
There are voices in the first corner
In the second corner there are people screaming In the third corner there is the color red
In the fourth corner is fear

Joe Payne

Winter

Black against the fog and snow dark clouds are drifting from the distance The drowsy clouds clash
The ocean blows the hurricanes away
The snow betrays us with coldness It feasts on our bones, freezing them
And then the freezing wind blows across my eye unbelievably fast

Maria Watkins

Time Is Ticking

Morning is my favorite
It sparkles so bright
When I look out the window
I can see my shadow in the light
I hate dark time
It just ain't right It's too noisy and way too many fights Memory erases, it has been 24 hours
I even forgot to turn on the showers
I start to remember, my mind is so sharp
When I turned around I broke the lock Now I'm stuck in the bathroom and don't know what to do I'm clueless, mindless as a stringless shoe there goes my morning straight down the tube

My Life As A Child

My life as a child is in the shadow Stones hurt my bones Poison in my heart Silence in my vision Clouds of darkness in my heartbeat Feeling drowsy from my song
A candle of flames burning with sorrow

Jay Jordan

Time Is Wasting

Morning time is my favorite It's just very bright
The sun can't stay out of my sight Summer is very hot
The sidewalk sometimes burns Now it's time to go to school and you just don't want to learn Friday is the best It's time to get out of school
At 8:00 it will be time to watch the late night news
It is a bunch of darkness Not very noisy
When I go to bed, my pillow is so soft
And I refuse to let it go

Clearwater, Florida

In a world of four different seasons summer is my favorite I love spending my summer in Clearwater, down in Florida going down to the beach seeing a sparkle in the ocean with family and friends seeing the sweet hot and soft sand just comes back to me as a song

Jay Jordan

Summer, Saturday, Evening

Summer, Saturday, evening
I like to watch the sun go down
I can eat my mother's Saturday meal I can listen to the birds chirping I smell fried chicken and cornbread I see my mother cooking up a storm
I can go outside and play with my most loyal friends
I can play spades with my brothers and my godsister and Jamella.
Finally, I can go to the movies and spend time with my family and friends.
Now it's nighttime, I get in a hot shower
When I get out, it feels like a steam room Then I eat again and watch TV and I am the only one awake Alone in a dark house Quietly going to a deep, deep sleep

My Life

My life as a child is on a hill of gold full of rubies and silence with flames and emeralds.
My life as a child is a heartbeat with charm and velvet in a room full of shadows.
This is my life as a child.

Ashley Boston

I always like summer best
You can play double dutch and hear the rope go tic-toc, tic-toc, tic-toc I like to eat the sweet candy my big bother brings me when he visits And creeping through the house to the porch to watch the moon glisten and the stars at night twinkle Waking up at 12:00 in the afternoon cutting on music and starting to dance and sing and putting on my sunglasses when I go outside I love going to the beach putting my feet in the ocean and feeling the breeze and the thing I love the most is settling down, soaking in the memory

Shatonia Hardy

Friday

Friday is the best for me I can't wait for some homemade ice cream and when summer comes I'll be at the pool
The water will be so cold and nice When fall comes,
I'll be playing in leaves like a little kid who's lonely and sweet and when the moon goes down I'll be sparkly like the ocean and noisy like music and laughing in the alley It's all about Friday

Looking Into a Face

Looking into the face
I hear voices Looking into the face
the darkness comes out Looking into the face
I have nightmares
Looking into the face
I worship the phantom
Looking into the face
I hear the wolves howl

Armani McKinzie

Favorite Times

My favorite time of the week is Saturday because it's quiet
I always like summer best because it is hot and I can play and eat sweet ice cream My favorite time of day is the evening because I can see my mom and my great grandmother and I can hear the baby cry and the dinner cooking I can taste beef soup

Derreon Jones

Lost

If I were a color it would be red, of the killing blood
If I were a sound
I would be a whistle
If I were a season
I would be summer, because I'm so hot I am the pointy shape of a sword slaying a dragon
I am the Fourth of July, because I spark If I were anything, I'd be stretchy because people say I'm so tall I'd stretch up to the sun

Devon Hudson

The rough faced girl

The rough faced girl
what a girl
I wonder what goes through her mind Her sisters are hard-hearted and mean to her Her face is rough but her courage is tough

Anton White

Confused

If I were a color, I would be red of a red, beautiful heart If I were a sound, I would be the sound of an empty beach
If I were a season, I would be spring because I love to buy new clothes If I were a shape, I would be the shape of a beating heart
If I were a holiday, I would be Valentine's Day because I love the feeling of love If I were a verb, I would be skip because skipping is like joy to me

Rickia Wrice

Breyonna Douglas

Unlocked

In my four cornered room
There is a heart pumping in the first corner
In the second corner there is my great mother In the third corner there is puppy love In the fourth corner is sky red I locked myself in there by accident
I unlocked the door with my happy key

Maria Watkins

On a private ship, held as a prisoner
I'm in darkness
I want to weep
It's so empty, I can hear my echo saying this poem I'm lonely in the darkness There's a phantom flowing around I'm so scared I can hear my heartbeat
This is a nightmare Somebody get me out of here
I'm turning into a stone
I hear voices with a little howl Words are unspoken, my voice is croaking
I'm going to be extinct
I can't even think I'm begging for mercy
I'm going to be damaged
My life is ruined
I listen to my voice
I am history, I hope to find out the mystery.

Charnice Dunham

Traveling Through The Dark

I was walking around in the forest at midnight.
There was only the moonlight.
The forest had me scared, with the creepy sounds I feared.
I thought I saw a phantom hiding in the bushes.
I saw a shining silver pearl.
I heard howls all around.
I awoke in the middle of the night.
I was sitting in my room my eyes afraid of darkness.

Jay Jordan

The People Next Door

The people next door are delicate.
Every time you spot them, they scatter.
Sometimes they might glisten, and when you are talking, they always listen.
They grow blossoms in their back yard.
I ask them, "Can I have a moment?"
but those people beg like they are homeless.
They like to damage everything, and when they do it, they sing.
They are filled with so much sorrow,
I think they will put me in their spell tomorrow.

Danielle Thomas

Jay Jordan

Kids Next Door

When I was asleep, I heard an illusion from the kids next door.
I went out in the distance and knocked on their door.
They said if you don't look in the mirror, you will die.
One moment please, so they snatched me into the house and voices just started to come into the community started to smash everything in the middle of the midnight.
They used their magic to destroy the monster but they were too big and strong and he couldn't answer the unanswered the question.
A stranger came up and answered the question and killed them.

Anton White

Last night I had a golden gun that got lost in the dark valley.
It looked just like a nightmare
I need that gun to kill my nightmare.
One midnight I shot my head when I was asleep.
I heard the echo all night long. I died.
I found my golden gun.
Now the nightmare is a night scare.
I have no time for tomorrow.
